An Individualized Approach to Family Law Matters

Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote provides the guidance and support clients need to address complex and sensitive family law matters. The members of our Family Law Group are experienced practitioners who work closely with individuals, couples, and families to resolve a wide range of legal issues. From alimony, divorce, separation, and custody agreements to sophisticated business valuations and challenging distributions of marital property, our family law attorneys are committed to finding the solutions that best serve our clients' personal and financial goals.

Scope of Family Law Services

Dickie McCamey's Family Law Group offers a team of compassionate attorneys experienced in handling a full array of family law matters, including:

- ADR methods — mediation and collaborative law proceedings
- Alimony Pendente Lite (APL)
- Asset protection
- Asset valuations and equitable distribution of property
- Child custody
- Child support and spousal support issues
- Divorce proceedings
- Postnuptial agreements
- Prenuptial agreements
- Protection from Abuse (PFA) orders
- Same-sex family law matters
- Separations
- Step-parent adoption

We understand that our clients are seeking our help during a very difficult and emotional time. We also know that for many people, this may be their first foray into the legal system. Our family law attorneys take a hands-on, personalized approach to the practice of law. We take the time to listen to our clients and explain the options available at every stage of the process. Every family law matter involves its own unique set of problems. We evaluate each case individually, working to develop a customized plan that resolves issues fairly and efficiently so that our clients can move forward with their lives.

In our practice, we also know that family law matters can be complicated, and the best solutions often require the insight and experience of practitioners in other legal disciplines. When these types of situations arise, our family law attorneys have direct access to lawyers working throughout our firm's diverse practice groups. From estate planning, tax, and corporate services to criminal defense and bankruptcy, our clients know that we have the knowledge and resources to handle their most demanding family law matters.
