

Outside General Counsel Services

Dickie, McCamey & Chilcote's ("DMC") Outside General Counsel Services Group offers an innovative and efficient approach to legal services for new, growing, and mature businesses. Companies who engage DMC as outside GC fall into two main categories:

- those without in-house counsel who need regular, on-going legal support, and
- those with in-house counsel who do not have the capacity to address all legal issues for their business and need to supplement their existing capabilities

DMC attorneys work closely with our clients; we gain an in-depth understanding of each client's business activities, objectives, and particular areas of risk exposure and then position ourselves to provide personalized legal counsel. We tailor our representation to meet the needs of each client so the focus of our counsel can be broad or narrow depending on the situation.

Dickie McCamey attorneys offer clients a full spectrum of services essential for any for-profit or not-for-profit entity. We work with enterprises of all sizes and shapes — from start-ups, partnerships, family businesses, and physician practice groups to mid-sized manufacturers and Fortune 500 companies. Our clients include both publicly-traded and privately-held companies. Through that experience, we have developed a keen sensitivity to the unique needs and legal challenges exceptional to the client.

With offices in 11 states, the ability to appear in courts across the country, and the efficient use of technology, Dickie McCamey has a presence that can serve and respond promptly to your needs, wherever you are.
